CHARTERS

The season's greetings are coming and going, and the happy spirit of Christmas is in the hearts of young and old. The words, "A Merry Christmas," thrills us with joy unexpressed and builds a bridge across the gulf of time over which we walk in memory back to the days of happy childhood. The faces of father and mother look down upon us in blessed benediction through the mist of the years. The words, "The flying feet of little children patter through the hall of imagination while their laughing voices charm us with the sweetest music that ever fell on mortal ear. Stockings, generously filled by the Santa Claus we used to know, are emptied of treasures to the accompaniment of the rapturous exclamations of innocent delight.

And while the joy bells of Christmas are yet ringing in our souls and the gleaming Christmas candles reflect the significance of this eternal day, we realize how blessed is the memory of the past and how glorious are the possibilities of the future, but do not forget the golden present in which we live and the tasks and responsibilities that are committed to us.

So amidst the sorrow and inspiring memories of yesterday, challenged by the golden opportunities of the present, we are impelled to a greater and fuller service to our community, to help lift the burden of human suffering, to make safer the pathway over which little feet must travel, to relieve the distress of the poor, to sympathize with the sorrowing, and thereby help enrich the lives of those here and in the generations to come.

In the spirit of the beautiful Yuletide season, and in our appreciation of you, may you have a Merry Christmas and may the New Year be happy, prosperous, and fruitful.

YOUR NEWSPAPER

The Advocate Press, of Springfield, Mass., asks the question, "What do you expect from your newspaper?" And answers it thus:

Well, you expect more from your newspaper than you do from any other person or institution to which you pay the sum of a few cents per week.

You expect your newspaper to give you all the news for every day in the year—the why you pay for it, but

You expect your newspaper to take the lead in all the changes for the betterment of community.

You expect your newspaper to expose graft in public affairs, to forestall it by publishing itemized accounts of all public money spent.

You expect your newspaper to maintain a high standard of morality, supporting things that are right and condemning things that are wrong.

You expect your newspaper to maintain a high standard of enterprise, devoting columns after columns of propaganda, supporting the band, the baseball team, community celebrations, Boy Scouts, high school athletics, home talent plays and dozens of causes and events.

You expect your newspaper to boost good roads and protect your community's claim for its share of road improvement.

You expect your newspaper to publish confidence in your home financial institutions and protect home investors from making unwise investments in surplus funds, warning against false salesmen and other financial pitfalls.

You expect your newspaper to give notice of all public meetings, public observations, conventions, etc.

You expect your newspaper to urge support of poor relief benefits, library drives, Red Cross drives, Christmas seal drives, Legion and auxiliary drive, penny sales, for-get-me-not sales, have-a-heart drives, etc., etc.

You expect your newspaper to publish church notices, church programs, club news, farm bureau information, demonstration unit news, market news, weather news, bring you the market reports and cover all things of the many semi-public events.

And yet, you expect all this for a few cents a week.

Christmas

The years no longer loaf in their passing as they did when we were children. They speed by and leave their marks upon us. So busy are our hands and heads in the eternal task of finding means to provide food and warmth and shelter, that time has become a millrace that sweeps us on to the end of our course. There are many stations along the way. And the most hopeful of all is Christmas, for it is the Christmas spirit that descends upon us and saves us from ourselves.

The grind of business wears our hearts. The disappointments make heavy our hearts. The greed we nurture within us makes us selfish. Our ego, prompted by our longings, destroys our concern for others. And then comes Christmas and purges us of our hates and our lack of faith in our kind. Without this season of good will we would become sordid indeed.

The most hopeless, hapless, helpless individual in all the world is the unbeliever—the unbeliever in everything that is worth while—the individual who does not believe in man; who does not believe in woman, who frowns at ideals, who mocks at faiths; who scorns love as a weakness and who worships at the shrine of Self. He goes his lonely, unlighted way, snatching at gems and discovering that they are only dross when he finds them in his hand. For happiness does not depend on what we wrest from the world. Happiness depends upon ability to enjoy. And we can enjoy the things we have only to the degree in which we are permitted to share them with others.

Study those faces in this Christmas shopping season.

See that white-haired old man, whose step is slow, whose hands are palsied, but whose eyes are bright with a light that is but a reflection of the spirit of gladness that nestles in his soul and warms him and makes him content. A grandfather, perhaps! Some place a child is standing at a window, dreaming of the generous-hearted Santa Claus, congratulating whom Grandpa has told wondrous stories. How slowly the days creep by for this child!

You know how it is. You know if you ever had a child in your home at Christmas time.

The old man in the department store is dreaming of that child as he inspects a doll or a woolly horse or this and that. Before so very long, perhaps, a shadowy figure—the figure of death—will come at his bedside and clutch his forehead and say, "Come, come with me." But today he lives. No king in all his glory has ever swung from life a joy that was deeper than his joy now as he stands in a tiny city of toys and chuckles at a vision of a Christmas morning near at hand.

Thus we are reclaimed at Christmas time—reclaimed from ourselves, our worst enemies. This is the course of our sordid selfishness interrupted, so that we emerge from the Christmas season better equipped morally to go our way.

Isn't the gift that we give that counts. It's the gift that we receive through giving that makes of Christmas a season of joy.—Palm Beach Post.

No it can't be done for that. The money you as a subscriber pay for the newspaper covers less than one-eighth the cost of publishing the paper.

Since advertisers pay a large share of the expense of publishing your newspaper, don't you think you owe them the duty to patronize them wherever they offer you equal or better values than non-advertisers?

But in addition to the many services which the newspaper is able to give you, you have an outstanding buying advantage when you study the newspaper ads before going on a buying trip. The ads point out money-saving values. Articles and services are naturally outstanding when advertised. No advertiser cares to invest money in telling you about unattractive things. His advertising carries the values that will bring you to him, to make pleased and steady customers.

Newspaper readers, newspaper advertisers and the newspaper itself are closely linked together in helping one another and in helping the community—and all profit thereby.

MOVE STARTED IN EFFORT TO BENEFIT MANY

Belle Glade Group of Merchants Start Plan for Glades Reclamation

At its meeting on last Tuesday night, the Merchants' association of Belle Glade agreed to meet soon to consider, with others, cooperation with the coast on a great Everglades reclamation project.

The proposal is to be made to the Federal government that it take back all Everglades lands now held by the government of the State of Florida, avoid interference with the rights of settlers, and reclaim the entire Everglades, meaning, thereby, to fit the land for use and keep it fit.

Conferences between Everglades and coast representatives show complete harmony of purpose between the two. The meeting is expected to be held in the American Legion hall, on a night in New Year week, (exact date to be announced later), and delegations from the coast cities together with a full turn-out from the upper Glades are expected. All interested in this enterprise are urged to aid in promoting the success of the meeting.

Members of the committees voted their approval of the plan and predicted they will be able to accomplish much valuable work in the two counties.

Men had the silent woman, but not one of them was such for a wife or sweetheart.

Mr. W. N. Nixson was elected chairman of the Palm Beach county committee and M. R. Kays will act as secretary. Committee headquarters will be in the office of the Lake Worth Drainage district at Olive avenue and Second street. Mr. Kays is a member of the state commission. Those appointed to serve with Mr. Nixson on the county committee are J. K. Williamson of West Palm Beach, Chester Wright of Lake Worth, Harry Benson of Boynton and L. L. Stuckey of Pahokee.

For the convenience of Everglades farmers having business with the committee it was agreed that Mr. Stuckey should act as contact man in this territory. He will be able to supply applicants with all information they may require.

Several five-man committees have been appointed in every county in Florida by Governor Davis Sholtz to work in connection with his Florida Debt Adjustment commission in negotiating settlements between debt-ridden farmers and their creditors. The services of the committees will be available to farmers and their creditors when they are unable to get together so helping one another and in helping the community—and all profit thereby.

JOY TO ALL

May the joys of Christmas dwell in your home on this Christmas day and each day during the coming year. May your heart swell with good tidings for all who come near you and may they in turn bring you richer blessings for all time.

Each year at this time of the year our thoughts turn to those who have meant so much to us—who have helped us accomplish the things that we have, the numerous courtesies which you have shown us throughout the past months are by no means forgotten and will remain with us as pleasant memories. We join the universal chorus by thanking you and wishing for you and yours a glorious holiday season.

BELLE GLADE PERSONALS

MRS. J. F. SCULLEN

CHRISTMAS PARTY AT BELLE GLADE

The Woman's Club of Belle Glade held its regular business meeting Wednesday afternoon at the club house, with Mrs. Curtis Thompson acting as president.

The business session was followed by a Christmas party, given by Mrs. James Scullen. The spacious club room was decorated with silver stars and colorful wreaths and bolls, climaxed by a large Christmas tree with flicker lights. The enjoyable program was as follows: A talk by Mrs. Theo Vivian here, State President of the Federation; two vocal solos, "Silent Night" and "Homeing" by Roscoe Bradlock, accompanied by Miss Elizabeth Thompson; a specialty song and dance by Kilo Watts, accompanied by Miss Thompson; a solo, "Single Belle" and an encore by Hilah Beach, accompanied by Billy Beach, Leroy Alsbaugh and Robert Alsbaugh playing the guitar, violin and banjo; recitation, "The Night Before Christmas" by Kilo Watts; and two violin solos, Intermezzo.

DENTON STORE HAS BEAUTIFUL DISPLAY

One of the most attractive window displays to be found in Pahokee is that in the store of T. C.

Denton, hardware dealer. Mr. Denton and his corps of clerks spent a whole day making the design and perfecting the decoration which has attracted much attention of the passersby.

The window has a background of a Christmas tree, brilliantly sprayed with aluminum paint and gaily decorated with colored lights and tinsel. In another corner of the window is a tableau scene showing the three wise men, astride their camels, winding their way toward Bethlehem. The North star can be seen in the distance.

The entire window display is flooded with delicate light at night and lends attractiveness to the newly renovated and redecorated store. Mr. Denton has just recently added 20 per cent more floor space to his place of business and the building has been repaired throughout inside. A beautiful ivy, trimmed in dark oak, makes the hardware establishment one of the most attractive business houses in Pahokee.

CHRISTMAS DAY SHOW BELLE GLADE

"I have never failed in anything I've undertaken in my life!" Grace Moore said before she made her first picture.

But it is a far cry from the Grace Moore of three years ago to the golden-haired, blue-eyed star, who is appearing in "One Night of Love," Columbia film showing Tuesday and Wednesday at the Everglades Theatre in Belle Glade. Not that she was any less glamorous then, when she made her first films. But she didn't get the right story material nor the proper presentation in her first ventures. She considers those first films, "Now Moon" and "A Lady's Morals" failures as far as personal achievement is concerned. They were good ... but not good enough. She was very happy for the chance to redeem her ego ... her pride in achievement ... with the film, "One Night of Love," which pictures ever made. In this picture Miss Moore emerges as a sensational film personality—a glamorous, alluring, fascinating, dramatic star. She is proud of the reception it has received ... she is proud of her work in it ... she is proud that she has made good her boast of succeeding in anything she undertakes, and so another chapter in Miss Moore's success story is written.

When Grace Moore first arrived in Hollywood to star in pictures for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer three years ago, she made an entrance with great fanfare. Her entrance into filmland created a furore. She was a world-famous figure, a great stage star, and Hollywood was proud to receive her. Had royalty suddenly descended upon the town, it would have been no more sensational. She was given a reception that befitted her title, "queen of songsters," and, according to all reports, lived up to the best traditions of rank.

FRANCES FULLER AND BANCROFT TOP FILM CAST

Frances Fuller, petite and charming brunette actress, who won such a dramatic success in Paramount's "One Sunday Afternoon," with Gary Cooper, is featured in her second picture role in Paramount's "Elmer and Elsie," also featuring George Bancroft, Roscoe Karns and George Barbier, coming to the Prince Theatre in Pahokee Tuesday and Wednesday. Adapted from the play "Ladies First," by George S. Kaufman and Marc Connelly, "Elmer and Elsie," is a down-to-earth drama of a typical, earnest American couple, Bancroft and Miss Fuller, who play roles of a good-natured, amiable truck-driver and his plucky intelligent little wife.

At the opening of the picture, Bancroft is presented as a happy but unambitious worker, whose chief concern is a good time, and whose chief worry is making his wages last until the next pay day rolls around.

When Miss Fuller comes into his life all that is changed. Soon his life all that is changed. Soon his life all that is changed. Soon his life all that is changed. Soon his life all that is changed.

He has acquired, however from his boss, the belief that "this is a man's world" and that women have no business meddling in their men's careers.

The story is devoted to showing how his wife finally manages to make him a successful business man, while he persists in his undisturbed faith in himself as a "self-made success" bringing the picture to a happy and entertaining close.

Gilbert Pratt directed "Elmer and Elsie." Nella Walker and Charles Selton are prominently cast in supporting roles.

Bank references are not needed to borrow trouble.

Our Most Cherished Gift . . . . .

Is The Memory Of The Pleasant Relations With Those Whom We Have Been Privileged To Serve During The Past Year

A gift we can never forget, that will never grow old nor wear out is that of friendship and good will ... so we say that our most cherished gift of all, and the most valued of all our assets is the memory of the pleasant relations we have had during the past year with our friends and customers. You, and you, have directly or indirectly benefited this business by your position in this community. Many of you we see and work with every day, others we see only occasionally, still others we seldom see, or have never met at all, but you have been of value to some one who has been of some benefit to us, and we want you to know that we appreciate you. We are looking forward to serving you better, by increasing our usefulness in this community.

Ours is a business world, but we must include in it somewhere the value of human relationship. To better ourselves and to make our business grow and prosper we must improve the city and community in which we live, so it is our firm resolution, made all over again for the New Year, to begin right now, with this Christmas Day to making a more earnest, untiring effort than ever before to be of greater value to our fellowmen. Accept our thanks for your patronage and favors of the past, and come with us into the New Year looking forward to greater and more worthwhile achievements than we have ever experienced before.

Financing, Liquor Control And Other Problems Will Face Florida Legislature

TALLAHASSEE, Dec. 20.—School and governmental financing and liquor control are among the major problems that will face the Florida Legislature, in its biennial session, next April.

Along with these will stand the question of what the State will do about providing funds for unemployment relief.

Results of the general election in November cut a pattern on which the Legislature must work. Voters repealed Statewide prohibition and 42 counties went "wet" by local option. An amendment to the Constitution was adopted to exempt from taxation all homesteads up to a valuation of $5,000. Gov. Dave Sholtz estimated the exemption amendment would reduce tax revenues of the State, cities, counties and districts by $10,000,000 annually, or about 20 per cent of the total now collected.

Ask $10,000,000 for Schools
Education associations and teachers' groups throughout the State have started a campaign for a new tax school fund of $10,000,000 to double the amount the State now is raising as a contribution toward payment of teachers' salaries in the counties.

Thus far, the Federal Government has legislated about relief operations in this State except the amounts spent in the various communities by local charities. The State itself has provided no funds for direct relief. The Federal Government would like it to do so, but expect the States to shoulder part of the burden.

With prohibition repealed, the State looks to liquor to supply one new source of revenue, but there is no basis upon which to estimate probable collections. The State's population has doubled since prohibition was enacted in 1919. There was no gallonage tax on liquor before prohibition.

Package Tax
Package Tax is a 45-cent per bottle prohibition were revived with repeal and now govern the liquor business. They provide that liquor may be sold only in sealed packages and may not be consumed on the premises. The license for a package store, which may be opened only in a "wet" county, is $100 annually.

The constitutional amendment repealing prohibition provided that the next Legislature should enact "suitable laws" for control of the liquor. The license for a package store, which may be opened only in a "wet" county, is $100 annually.

Salvage Tax
Opponents of the Homestead Tax Exemption Amendment raised the cry of "salvage tax" before the election, while advocates of the amendment were just as strong in their statements that its adoption would not require a sales tax to provide revenue. They contended that an improved system of assessing property, particularly intangible and personal property, would provide more revenue than that taken away by homestead exemption.

The Supreme Court has held that the homestead exemption cannot apply on taxes levied for payment of existing bonds, unless sufficient revenue to pay the bonds is provided from other sources.

Another situation facing the Legislature will be redistributing of the State's judicial circuits to conform to another constitutional amendment. The amendment provided that the number of circuits should be reduced from the present 25 to "not more than 15," with a proportionate reduction in the number of circuit judges.

Extensive studies of the structure and system of taxation in the State have been made by persons employed through the Federal Emergency Relief Administration. Those findings have not been made public, but they will be laid before the Legislature for consideration in its 60-day session.

Governor Sholtz already is at work on his first message to the Legislature. It will be presented in person, the second day of the session. He has not announced what subjects he will discuss.

Sen. W. C. Hodges of Tallahassee is the president-nominee of the 1935 State Senate. Formal election is made as the Legislature officially opens.

Three candidates for speaker of the House of Representatives are W. B. Bishop of Jefferson County, William McI. Christie of Duval County, and Dwight L. Rogers of Broward County. The Speaker will be nominated the night before the session and formally elected the day the session begins.

DIVIDENDS SHOW BIG INCREASES IN LAST YEAR

$1,503,971,524 Total Is Largest Since

NEW YORK, Dec. 20.—Corporations with stock exchange dividends of $200,000,000 or more in dividends during the past year than in 1933. Total declarations for the year amounted to $1,503,971,524 against $1,208,546,531 in 1933, the largest dividend since 1931.

American Telephone and Telegraph company paid out the largest amount—$167,900,475—shareholders received a 10 per cent increase over the $152,500,000 paid in 1933. There are 25 other companies making payments in excess of $10,000,000. The aggregate of these 25 was $688,724,417, or 45.8 per cent of the entire amount paid by all the companies and total represented an increase of $18,769,580 over 1933, or 25.61 per cent of the entire gain recorded this year.

Prominent among these issues were General Motors corporation, which increased the common stock dividend to $1.50 against $1.25 and distributed $85,250,000, a gain of $10,875,000 over 1933 and the largest advance on the board. Consolidated Gas company of New York which reduced the common stock dividend to $2 from $3 and paid $2,925,054, a decline of $1,767,527 compared with the 1933 payment, the greatest loss on the list.

Of the 1186 issues listed on the stock exchange, 523 or 44.5 per cent were on a divided basis, against 463 or 38 per cent in 1933; 642 or 53.8 per cent in 1932, and 641 or 53.8 per cent in 1931.

Dividend changes
There were 222 dividend changes in the year. Of these 212 were increased payments; 72 initial or resumed payments; 19 reductions and 10 omissions. In 1932, the worst of the depression years for dividends, there were only five increases, five initial payments or resumptions, 147 declines and 184 omissions.

Many individual companies or larger dividend payments than at any time in their history. Homestead Mining, highest priced stock on the board, paid $7,524,800 on the basis of $9 a share, its best, compared with $1,269,720 in 1933, a 497 per cent increase.

Smeltering, leader of the silver group, also set a new high mark of $1,769,720, or $9 a share, against $763,147 or $15.0 a year ago. International Nickel, another silver producer, paid $1,487,600, or $6 cents a share, after omitting payments in 1932 and 1933.

Several companies declared stock dividends with Monsanto Chemical the most prominent. It ordered a 100 per cent stock dividend and paid shareholders $1,080,000 a gain of $126,000 over 1933. Mesta Machine declared a 60 per cent stock dividend and increased its payments $500,000.

Industrial Rayon was split three for one with the new stock paying $208,000 more than the old.

Mercantile issues were given favorable dividend attention. J. C. Penney paid $4.40 or $10,863,320, its best since 1920, and a gain of $7,900,749 over 1933 payments. Chemicals fared well with DuPont paying $35,963,473, or $25 per share, its best since 1931, and an increase of $5,532,842 over 1933 when the issue paid $27.5.

In the tobacco, General Cigar paid $5,110,874 or $7 a common share, up from $4.18,864 over 1933 when $4 a share was declared, and a new high while George Heintz (cigar) increased its 1933 payment by $6.75 to a record high of $13.75, and an advance of $6,250,000 over last year.

Railroad Division
Norfolk and Western was a bright spot in the railroad division, paying $10 on the common stock, its best since 1931, or $14,065,080, up $2,813,016 over 1933 when $8 per share was declared. Pennsylvania railroad declared a $1 dividend, its best since 1931 and paid $13,187,093, against $6,500,817 or 50 cents a share in 1933. Atchafalpa made its first payment since 1932. With the exception of General Motors automobile companies generally paid less, Auburn emitting for the first time since its listing on the New York exchange and Chrysler cutting its rate from $2 to $1.25, a loss of $3,857,251 to stockholders.

Utilities made the poorest showing. Dividends were omitted on Laclede Gas, common and preferred, Cudahy Gas and the Standard Gas preferred shares, a total loss to shareholders of $1,644,631.

"Lone Wolf's" Tracks in the Christmas Snow

THERE he stood—"The Lone Wolf" halfway down the hill, looking at a snow-covered landscape, the moon and stars disclosing his tracks and shadowy figure upon the glittering sheet of ice-coated snow. He gazed hungrily toward a group of houses huddled together at the foot of the hill, a faint light gleaming from their windows.

As Mary Louise was absorbed in turkey-dressing, cranberries, recipe books and Christmas sprees, her thoughts wandered to his beautiful picture—"The Lone Wolf." For many years she had longed to possess it, but her husband did not approve, so she had done without it. Mary Louise breathed away a tear as she thought of the coveted picture, and then promptly forgot all but her loving efforts to make her family happy on Christmas.

When all was in readiness and the tree beautifully trimmed, Mary Louise called in the family for the Christmas celebration. How the children danced and tore about the top-lit living room! How dear old John absorbed himself in his brand-new smoking outfit!

Was Mary Louise to receive nothing? Turning, she saw John tracking on the most adorable of toys, try she had ever seen—"The Lone Wolf." It just the thing for that great empty wall space! "Merry Christmas, Mary," said John, as they all stood gazing upon "The Lone Wolf" with his tracks in the snow—Alice E. Palmer.

Christmas Radio Skit That "Went Over" Big

"WHY don't you try a radio skit for XMAS?" Dick Haskins had written his mother, Grace. Grace tried it and was as much surprised as anyone when it was accepted, to be broadcast at seven o'clock Christmas eve.

Mr. Haskins had been greatly disappointed when Dick, for lack of finances, had to give up studying for the ministry and had gone to work in the city. Recently he had written that he had a new job, a surprise, that he would tell Mother and Father Jim about at Christmas.

Because Grace had always pictured Dick as the popular young minister, she featured the idea in the play, with the beautiful organ to play; then, to their amazement, a voice strangely familiar: "This is station X.Y.Z."

Then another voice: "Our play this evening, 'The New Minister,' is written by our announcer's mother, Mrs. Grace Haskins. Our popular announcer, Dick Haskins, will take the part of the minister."

"Of all things," Grace exclaimed, "the young man!"

"No wonder your skit went over so fast," Jim grinned.

"Now listen," Grace said, "I've been missing it. Grace happily admitted as the announcer, Dick Haskins, will take the part of the minister."

HINTS TO HOUSEWIVES

Weekly from Home Demonstration Specialists, Tallahassee

Our autumn leaves for Christmas are not more gorgeous than the supply of autumn vegetables offered at the market or picked from our gardens. There is the yellow of the carrots, and the red and green of peppers, and the other flashing and softer colors.

These all mean something; with these colors are associated valuable vitamins and along with are many other essential food elements.

When you serve white potatoes and greens, you are getting good returns for your money, because you have in that combination all the vitamins, especially vitamins A and B, and several minerals, particularly calcium and iron. Not all you need of each for the day, but a good start in that direction.

When you serve sweet potatoes and greens, you get the same food values, but more of vitamin A and a little less iron than you get in the white potato combination. It is not economical to serve white potatoes and sweet potatoes the same meal, because in these two you get so many of the same food values. But you are not duplicating too much if you serve either kind of potatoes with carrots, or tumpies. Cook them in different ways, of course, to look more inviting—baked potatoes and diced carrots or turnips, say; or creamed potatoes with raw carrot sticks.

Carrots are the best of all the yellow vegetables in vitamin A. Squash comes next, then pumpkin and yellow turnips.

Among the leafy vegetables, the greener they are the more vitamin A. New, green cabbages are a better source than the winter heads. Collards are good, and they are a standby in the South all winter.

Turnip greens, too, are hardly enough to grow well into the winter. The pepper family is a good source of vitamin A and also of vitamin B and C. Green peppers and red peppers are equally good.

SEMINOLES RETURN TO OLD HAUNTS AT SILVER SPRINGS

SILVER SPRINGS, Fla. Dec. 20. (Special)—After lapse of nearly a century during which the Red Man has been singularly absent from his accustomed haunts at Silver Springs, some fifty Seminoles have returned here to occupy a model Indian village on the exact spot where their leaders first raised the war cry of "Yee-hee-hee" in 1835.

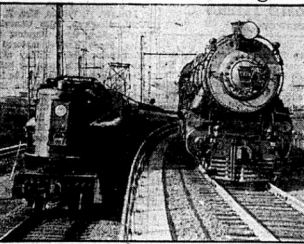

This straggling group together with their brothers in the Everglades are all remaining of that indomitable nation who alone of all Indian tribes successfully defied the United States army and never were conquered. Always ready to treat for peace, the Seminoles were adamant only on one point, their refusal to quit Florida for the Indian reservation in Arkansas.

That some of them did surrender and consent to removal was only because they were weary of war and desired peace at any price. The hardest held out, even though their number was believed to have been reduced to only about 100 in the impenetrable morasses of the Everglades, and the members of the Seminole Indian village at Silver Springs are descendants of that hardy strain.

Silver Springs was the center of Seminole activities for more than a century until the last of them retreated into South Florida about 1855. Near here were the homes of Osceola, Rematahla, Micanopy and other famous Seminole chieftains.

The Seminole village at Silver Springs will be opened to the public on Sunday, December 23, but the formal opening will be deferred until New Year's day when it will be marked by appropriate celebration including the Green Corn dance. Chief Sam Tommy, headman of the village, is a direct descendant of Jimmy Tuskenagee, famous Seminole leader who antedated Osceola. The village is of typical Seminole construction, embracing a dozen or more palm-hatched houses with platforms or elevated floors, a type of architecture designed to suit the locality of South Florida and adopted from the ancient Calusa Indian who inhabited that territory. The Silver Springs village is a community in itself with hospital, school and workshops where the women have been making beads and dresses and the men canoes. One of the most interesting spectacles is Charlie Cypress, 88, who still wears the ancient costume and head-dress of his ancestors. The entire village wears the picturesque tribal dress.

"Iron Horse" Bows to Progress

The steam locomotive "Iron Horse" of an earlier age is rapidly giving away, in the march toward progress, to a modern upstart—the streamlined electric locomotive. In this picture one of the new type engines, 57 of which have been ordered by the Pennsylvania Railroad, is shown wading in a race with one of its older brethren. In the distance back of the streamlined train may be seen towers of electric generators which furnish its power.

Behind 1934's Big Stories Lie Varied News Personalities

Who are the news headlines of 1934? Millions of words of news have flashed across the world into newspapers and then into the minds of millions of readers. International political events, the march of progress in science, gangsters killed, economic developments, threats of war, internal disorders in Germany, Austria and several other countries, battles in South America, a birth of quinquity, assassinations, romance, disasters all have gone down in history.

Behind each news event, backdrop before your eyes in news and pictures, the prime interest has been in the persons playing the leading roles of 1934.

Editors Name Headlines
The many reporters and editors in New York headquarters of The Associated Press were asked, even as they worked at the never-ending and often thrilling task of gathering and preparing the news, to give their nominations of the news headlines of 1934.

Here they are:
Franklin D. Roosevelt, because he is president of the United States and has been the leader during a critical period in this country.

Adolf Hitler, chancellor of Germany, because his sensational "blood purge" and grasp of full power in his country, made one of the biggest news developments of the year, regardless of individual views on the subject.

Chancellor Dollfus, of Austria, because of his dominant role in the battle against Naziism, his suppression of the socialist uprising and, finally, his assassination—a little man who lived and died spectacularly.

Quintuplets Far Famed
The Dionne quintuplets, because they all lived and became the most widely discussed babies of modern times.

Dr. Allan Roy Dufoe, a country doctor who kept the quintuplets alive.

King Alexander, of Yugoslavia, who, perhaps, became more widely known in death than the bullethead of an assassin than he was in life, though ruler of one of the trouble-spots of Europe.

King Peter, his son, a pathetic little boy, who left a school room to become king in troublesome times.

Christmas program by Church school, 7:30 p. m.

At all of the Sunday services there will be the "White Gifts To The King." Everyone is requested to bring some article of food to be placed in baskets and sent out to the poor families who otherwise will not have any Christmas dinner. There will also be included in the basket toys for the children that the Boy Scouts have been repairing and painting which will no doubt make many children happy. If anyone who will not be able to attend the service that can donate food can send it to the parsonage or word to the Boy Scouts will call for it. The Epworth league will arrange and deliver the baskets.

The young people of the Epworth league will meet at the church on Monday night, Christmas Eve and will go out card slinging. An invitation is extended to all of the young people of the community to help in this service. The young folks will sing at the homes of shut-ins and those who will not be able to attend the Christmas service.

Princess Marina, a comparatively unknown Greek princess who wed the Duke of Kent.

John Dillinger, the most sinister figure in gangsterland, a killer who used a wooden gun to escape from jail later ran into bullets and death from real guns in the hands of officers.

Johnson Holds Interest
Gen. Hugh S. Johnson, the hard-hitting NRA leader, who caught the public's interest and then resigned when he decided he had served his purpose.

Mrs. Gloria Morgan Vanderbilt, who fought to regain her daughter from the custody of Mrs. Harry Payne Whitney.

Senator Huey Long, who increased his power in Louisiana but fared unsuccessfully as leader of a university football team.

Upton Sinclair, the socialist who became a democrat, obtained that party's nomination for governor of California, but was defeated after a bitter campaign.

The Deans, "Dizzy" and "Duffy," because they tried the St. Louis Cardinals into a league pennant and then into baseball's world championship.

Samuel Insull, an old man, once a great utilities magnate, who hired a boat to escape court, was caught and extradited and then found not guilty in his first trial in Chicago.

Mrs. Roosevelt Active
Brook Hauptmann, who, whether guilty or not of the Lindbergh baby kidnapping and murder, made front page news for days and now faces trial in New Jersey early in 1935.

Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, still the most active of all First Ladies.

Dr. William A. Wirt, educator, whose chess "reef" plot in the "brain trust" brought both concern and laughter.

Gaston Doumergue, who emerged from retirement in an effort to bring order in the French government.

Albert, King of the Belgians, popular throughout the world, who fell to his death while mountaineering.

Von Hindenburg, who died after a career as president of Germany that endeared him to the rest of the world more than his military exploits.

able to attend the Christmas service.

The Ladies Aid play that was to have been given last week was postponed until Tuesday night of this week on account of the cold weather. The Ladies of the Aid want to thank all those who helped to make the play a success.

probably average somewhat higher in 1935 than in 1934, based on the figures the statisticians have.

"Prices for feed and seed will continue to be relatively high until 1935 crops are harvested. Farm wage rates are expected to be higher in 1935. Farm machinery prices also are likely to show a slight advance. Prices of fertilizer probably will average about the same during the spring of 1935 as a year earlier, but prices of building material may be slightly lower."

While mixed fertilizers are expected to sell for about the same, "polish and tankage will be less, mineral ammoniac about the same or somewhat lower, and cottonseed meal and super-phosphate will be higher than a year earlier."

BRIGHT SPOTS SEEN IN FLORIDA FARM OUTLOOK FOR 1935

PAHOKEE, Fla., Dec. 20.—

The Florida farm outlook for 1935 goes to press this week and will soon be ready for free distribution to farmers, and contains many bright spots. It was prepared by the State Agricultural Extension Service, and is based on facts assembled for a recent national outlook conference in Washington, H. C. Clayton, Florida outlook and organization specialist, attended the national conference.

Predicts the outlook, reported: "With the greatly reduced acreage of most agricultural products and with some improvement in domestic consumer purchasing power in prospect, it appears that the level of farm prices will tend to rise during the first half of 1935, despite a prospective decline in per capita demand for American farm products. Since agricultural production in 1935 is likely to be larger than the unusually small production of 1934, it may be anticipated that the average level of farm commodity prices will tend to readjust itself to the increased supplies in the latter months of 1935, but the larger marketings will probably maintain the level of farm income. The relation of farm prices to non-agricultural prices should show some further improvement during the first half of 1935."

The price of things the farmer has to buy and farm wages will
